Generic & patent meds

- A patent is licence to manufacture and sell a news drug.
- It usually gives a company 10-15 year to make profits from their research
- After the patent ends, other companies can make these meds.
- Generics are much less expensive.

Generic meds & the NHS

- Generic meds include exactly the same active ingredients as brand-name meds...
- They are just much less expensive.
- Generic meds are essential to the NHS.
- 60-85% of all NHS prescriptions are for generic meds.

Generic HIV meds

- Just like every other health area, HIV care will use generics.
- This is not a question of patient choice when the generic exactly matches the brand med.
- HIV combination pills make this different.
- Combination pills might have to be prescribed as separate meds.

Spot the difference?

- Which is the generic laboratory?

Thank you
